Understanding that you are not the only one going through divorce can also be reassuring and the statistics below may just be something of a comfort.

WEDDINGS AND DIVORCES

When a relationship breakdown is looming suddenly it seems as if people are getting married all around you - you see wedding photoshoots in magazines, your favourite TV programme has a marriage storyline, someone at work announces the date for their wedding and gives you an invite. Yes, it can feel as if you are the only one whose relationship is not flourishing. But, this is just not true.

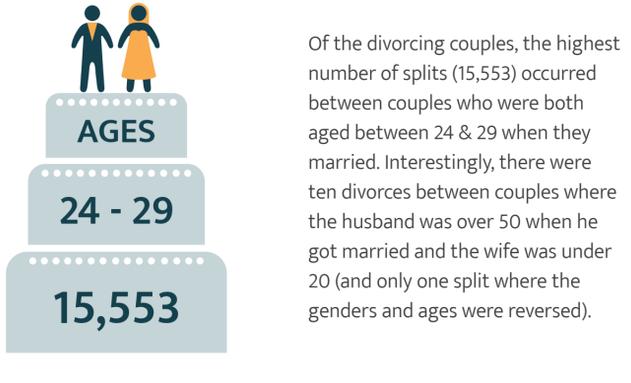

250,000

100,000

Each year, there are around 250,000 weddings which take place in the UK, but, there are also more than 100,000 divorces.

DIVORCE AND CHILDREN

Almost half of all the couples who divorced in 2012 had at least one child living at home who was under the age of 16.

NUMBER OF CHILDREN WHOSE PARENTS DIVORCED

*The ONS believes this trend reflects the increasing numbers of children whose parents are cohabiting.

AGES OF CHILDREN WHEN THEIR PARENTS GOT DIVORCED IN 2012

*All above statistics from Office for National Statistics

When thinking about children there's no best time to divorce, but childhood specialists know that children, whatever their age, whose parents are unhappy can suffer emotional problems similar to those whose parents are divorced. Family breakdown does not have to be the worst thing that will happen to children and with love, support and contact with both parents who collaborate respectfully in their care, all children can flourish.

REASONS FOR DIVORCE

When relationship breakdown occurs it is common for spouses to feel that they are the only person to have ever experienced the pain and heartbreak of things going wrong. From extra-marital affairs to workaholism, there are many reasons why marriages fall apart and it is almost guaranteed that someone, somewhere has gone through what you are going through.

VALUE OF DIVORCE ASSETS

And when it comes to the money, recent statistics show that the value of divorce financial settlements (up to 2013, at least) were generally getting bigger.
